The main living areas are particularly spacious and offer more than enough space, for a family looking for a home in the city. High ceilings and wooden floors are combined with modern fittings, as well as tastefully-designed bathrooms and a large, villa-style kitchen. The latter is large and has been fitted with state-of-the-art appliances, also featuring a centre island, as well as a laundry area.

A heating system and air conditioning has been installed throughout the property, providing the property with ideal temperatures all year round.

This unique property is situated in a very central building in Valencia's Eixample neighbourhood.

Mercado de Colón's amenities and services are also within a stone's throw, offering elegant shops and restaurants, while the nearby riverbed of the old River Turia offers the ideal space for sporting activities.
